

"Choirs and Brass for Christmas"

to be Presented

13 Dec 84

Wasatch County (LRJ) Brad Thompson, music director and teacher at Wasatch High School, reminds us that "if you and your family missed 'The Sound of Music' don't make two mistakes in one year by missing "Choirs and Brass for Christmas."

This new production will be held Dec. 15 7:00 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The whole family is invited to this fast-paced concert, about one hour in length. It is a mixture of classical and 20th century music. The classical involves Baroque and Renaissance numbers that have been enjoyed for centuries. The familiar Christmas music of today will also please many. A

The Wasatch Community Chorus will offer compositions by Benjamin Britten, a twentieth century writer. "A Ceremony of Carols" is based on poems of the middle age accompanied by harp. The lead harpist of the BYU Symphony Orchestra will accompany the chorus.

Sound Investment will sing "What Child is This", "A Special Night" (both recorded recently for KSL Radio) and "A Christmas Canon" and others.

The Children's Chorus will present the French carol "Bring a Torch, Jeanette Isabella" a work by the Hungarian composer Zoltan Kodaly, and some lighter

The families will be enchanted by the excellent selection lightened and developed through staging, lighting, scenery, and sound and will find the occasion a memorable family Christmas celebration.
